

INVESTOR TIPS

KNOW WHO YOU ARE DEALING WITH

A qualified adviser can help you chart the course, but it's important to play an active role in planning your financial future. Find someone who is properly qualified and registered to provide investment advice – call the Commission to check or visit our website for a list of all registrants. Make sure you are comfortable asking the adviser questions and don't hesitate to interview more than one person. You have the right to switch advisers if you are not satisfied with the relationship.
