FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

October 5th, 2010

www.ttsec.org.tt has a new look!

The Trinidad and Tobago Securities and Exchange Commission has redesigned its website to ensure:

- Improved content layout
- Ease of navigation
- User friendliness

A comprehensive overhaul of the site resulted in a more visually appealing homepage which provides a rich store of information and a scrolling banner highlighting points of interest to all users. From the home page, visitors can easily navigate to any section of the site using the Quick Links feature.

Another new feature of the site is the media room, which provides media practitioners with fact sheets, speeches, media releases and multi media content for their use as resource material. Other new features include an expanded Investor Resources tab that provides various brochures including “Investing for various life stages”, “How to avoid scams” and “How to lodge a complaint”. This section of the site now includes “How to lodge a complaint” or a tip as well as PDF downloadable forms for submission to the TTSEC. The Commission has also taken to marketing its Investor Education programme by providing interested persons with an on line request form for group Investor Outreach sessions.

Market participants and their legal team will now be able to find all guidelines and legislation pertinent to their market interactions under the Legal Framework tab. This section of the website also includes recent enforcement actions taken against market actors who have breached the Securities Industry Act and the orders or judgements against them for such contraventions. Of interest to this group too would be the Registration section, which provides on line forms that can be printed and downloaded in PDF format for submission to the TTSEC.
