NEW WEBSITE LAUNCH

The Trinidad and Tobago Securities and Exchange Commission's website at www.ttsec.org.tt has a new look! The website was launched on Monday 27th September 2010 at the Commission's offices.

The new site offers a visually appealing homepage which provides a rich store of information with a scrolling banner highlighting points of interest to all users. From the home page visitors can easily navigate to any section of the site using the Quick Links feature.

Market participants will benefit from the changes to the Legal Framework section of the site which now allows persons to source all Guidelines and By-Laws governing their functioning within the market. In addition the Registration section provides forms which can be printed on line and downloaded in PDF format for submission to the TTSEC.

Investors and potential investors can browse the securities and registrant databases to determine whether the investment products as well as the persons selling them are registered with the TTSEC.

There is a heavy investor education focus where investors and potential investors are provided with educational material covering various topics such as "Investing for Life Stages" and "How to Avoid Scams". Investors can now request an Investor education session conducted by staff of the Commission by completing an on line form. The Investor resources section of the site also includes how to lodge a complaint or a tip as well as PDF downloadable forms for submission to the TTSEC.

A media room has been developed to provide print and online journalists, radio and TV researchers and producers, and other media practitioners with fact sheets, speeches, media releases and multi media content for their use as resource material.
